ST. ALBANS CENSURED.

State Board of Health Looks Into Conditions There.

St. Albans, Aug. 25.—Dr. Henry D. Holton of Brattleboro and Dr. Truman R. Stiles of St. Johnsbury, members of the state board of health, were in this city yesterday, and in company with Dr. A. A. Claffin, local health officer, made a thorough investigation of the conditions of the city.

The findings of the board of health will be made public in a few days in a communication addressed to Dr. Claffin as secretary of the local board of health. Doctor Holton said that the present condition of many of the public buildings in St. Albans was simply outrageous and that in case of fire or even an alarm of fire, they would be nothing less than death traps. The same is true of those of the school buildings that had been examined by the board. Doctor Holton commended the changes that are being made at Dr. T. R. Waugh's opera house and said that when they are completed the building would be in good shape.

Doctor Holton said that the local board of health was negligent in its duty in allowing such a source of disease and contagion to exist as the open sewer dignified by the name of Stevens brook, and wondered that such a condition was allowed to exist a moment.

DISAPPEARANCE OF CITY RECORDS

Claimed They Were Abstracted From City Clerk's Vaults—Some Excitement.

Burlington, Aug. 25.—Because records of the business transacted by an aldermanic committee have disappeared from the city clerk's office and because Alderman Germain states that a record of a real estate transaction in which he is interested has been tampered with, a city ordinance was offered yesterday morning at a special meeting of the board of aldermen whereby no one can enter the vault at the city clerk's office and get records except in company with the clerk or one of his assistants.

The loss of the records of the committee was discovered Tuesday night, when the aldermanic committee on streets was considering the municipal light plant. Reference was made to action taken by the committee some months ago when Alderman Shea was on the committee. The records were called for, but when C. D. Graton, who acted as secretary for the committee, went to look for them they were missing and all efforts to find them were unsuccessful. The loss of the records, while of no vital importance, created considerable comment, and it was decided to fix matters so that such an occurrence would be impossible in the future.

The change in the real estate record, as claimed by Alderman Germain, could not be definitely located yesterday as he is in Canada and will not return for nearly a week. According to the claim stated by him at the city clerk's office an erasure was made and a substitution in the record made in a different handwriting. This is the only time that such a claim has been made in regard to the records at the city clerk's office and it naturally created excitement. It has been the custom in the past for any who wished to get at a document in the city clerk's office to go to the vault and rummage among the books as long as wished. It was never suspected that any changes would be made in the records but the missing documents and the changes alleged to have been made in the records made it imperative to have the public excluded from the vault.

"YELLOW" BASE BALL

Barre-Montpelier Was Swamped By Rutland

SHELDON NOT SUPPORTED

Stewart Taken Out of Game and Page Finished in the Box—Rutland Fans Disappointed

The Scene of the Slaughter, August 25.—As a Rutland victory the game at this stage of the game and by defeating the Intercity team Rutland gained a good lap on the former leaders. As an interesting game of baseball, however, it was a big disappointment to the 1,500 or more cranks who went to the grounds expecting to see a battle royal. The score was 11 to 3.

Sheldon and Minnehan were pitted against each other and previous to the game everybody thought the contest would be close, with few runs by either side. Sheldon only pitched four innings, and by that time the home team had eight runs to the visitors' one. He then retired to center field and Page took the slab and finished the game in his place, Stewart going to the bench for some reason.

Sheldon's failure to keep the runs down was due more to hard luck and poor support, however, than to poor pitching. Of the seven hits made off him in the four innings which he pitched, three were "Texas leaguers" pure and simple—easy lobs that fell just out of the reach of everybody. Another was a grounder to Flynn which the latter gathered in so far off first base that he could not get back to the base in time, and one other that went as a hit was a drive past second that a live second baseman would have blocked and probably gathered in. Only two of the seven hits were good hard clouts. In addition to that Sheldon had five of the yellowest kind of fielding errors behind him. It would have taken Chesbro or Matthewson to have held Rutland down with the support that was accorded Sheldon.

Page, who succeeded Sheldon, had better support, the visitors making but one error in his four innings. Page's sloveness made a poor impression. It taking him anywhere from 30 seconds to two minutes to deliver the ball.

Minnehan was almost invincible, only one of the visitors runs being earned. The feature of the game was a phenomenal catch by Cotter, who ran hard from deep left field and caught a fly from Dorman's bat close to the ground about 30 feet back of the shortstop's position. Cotter then threw straight into Robertson's mitt, catching Poland off the base.

Rutland won the game in the first inning. Robertson, who led off, popped an easy one into short center. O'Hara sent a grounder to Flynn, but the latter could not get back to first. Sheehan sacrificed neatly, advancing the runners to third and second. Duff sent one past McEnany and Robertson and O'Hara scored. Poland threw toward the plate to catch Duff, but the ball went about 10 feet over Nash's head and McMahon scored. Cotter scored when Kennedy lobbed another easy one back of Morgan. Kennedy was caught at second trying to steal, and Wall struck out, ending the inning.

Rutland's three in the fourth were due to three rank errors by the visitors and Duff's hit. The two in the seventh and the final one in the eighth were batted out.

Barre-Montpelier scored one each in the first sixth and seventh but was never in any danger of being in the race.
